

ABSTRACT

Printmode selection systems and methods are described. In one embodiment, a method comprises receiving user input that pertains to selection of a printmode that is not a pre-defined printmode for a particular printer; and 5 providing the user with feedback that pertains to a selected printmode.